FRANKLIN ALUMNI
Association & Foundation

A Note from the Board President

Welcome to the spring edition of the Quaker Times! It's a privilege to serve as president of the Franklin Alumni Association & Foundation. I joined the board of the alumni association in 2012, the same year as the 100th anniversary of our beloved alma mater. I was looking for a way to give back to the place that played such an integral role in my adolescence, and it's been a gratifying labor of love ever since.

It started in 1995 as a senior humanities project for Regan Anderson, Jennifer Bosworth, Maggie Morris Keller and Sarah Morningstar who created a database of Franklin alumni. The database eventually blossomed into what is now the Franklin Alumni Association & Foundation, a non-profit organization dedicated to keeping alumni connected to one another and to Franklin High School. Let's take a moment to appreciate how the seeds planted decades ago by high school seniors yielded an organization with longevity and significant impact on the Franklin community. Here's to the brilliance and promise of our young people!

While we continue to provide grants to teachers and staff, scholarships to graduating seniors and support to the athletic department, this spring, we celebrate two great successes:

2019 marks the 25th anniversary of the Franklin Alumni Association & Foundation. As we reflect on this important milestone, I am reminded of our board's responsibility as stewards of this organization.

Franklin has no shortage of distinguished graduates. On May 4, we will celebrate five of our illustrious alumni as the newest inductees into our Hall of Fame. Be sure to read about them on page 8 of this newsletter and then make plans to join us in the Commons at Franklin High School to celebrate their induction. We'd love to see you!

We'll be celebrating both our 25th anniversary and the 2019 Hall of Fame inductees with a fantastic fundraising dinner on May 4. Money raised from the event will allow us to continue our ongoing financial support of Franklin programs.

As we look to the future of the Franklin Alumni Association & Foundation, we are in an exciting state of transition and possibility, which brings us opportunities to:

- Create more events for alumni to gather, socialize and reconnect with one another. Our first effort in support of this opportunity was "Alumni Night" at a recent Franklin boys varsity basketball game -vs- Rainier Beach. See page 12 to read about the fun that was had by the alumni who attended.
- Keep alumni from all generations informed and engaged. Some alumni prefer communication via U.S. mail, some prefer communication via email, while others prefer to stay informed through social media.

We'd like to hear where you're at and offer events/programming that interest you and your classmates. Have ideas or feedback you'd like to share? We want to hear from you. Ultimately, an informed and engaged alumni community will invest in and be a part of the Alumni Association. We welcome your presence and participation with open arms.

A very special thank you to Sara Thompson, our immediate past president and current secretary who has served on the board of the alumni association for 20 years. Sara has truly been the "keeper of the flame," with institutional knowledge and countless hours spent doing the work of the alumni association. I am deeply grateful for her support and love for Franklin.

Lastly, thank you for the opportunity to serve. I'm looking forward to connecting with you and working on your behalf to stay connected to Franklin and to each other. Go Quakers!

With gratitude,

Tai Mattox Velasquez '92

Keep the Quaker Times Coming

Sara Thompson '68, who has served as our editor, plans to step back. We would love to keep the Quaker Times going, though the format and content may need to change with the times.

At this time, we plan to publish and mail each spring. We also have the capacity to make the newsletter entirely electronic.

But if we are to continue, we need your help.

If you like people, enjoy telling the Franklin story, or if you are an editor at heart, let us know. Or if you have experience with InDesign, we can use your skill.

And let us know what you most value about the newsletter—what you tell us will guide our next steps. Call or email. 206 930-6723 or FAAandF@gmail.com

Update from Franklin's Principal

It is my pleasure to write my first ever (interim) principal update. As you may have heard, Dr. Jennifer Wiley, FHS principal for the past 16 years has taken a medical leave for the remainder of the school year. I want to assure you that she is in good care while taking some time to tend to her medical needs. In the meantime, I have been appointed interim principal after serving for the past 3 years as an assistant principal at Franklin. It is an exciting time at Franklin, and we will continue to do the good work that Franklin has been doing for over 100 years.

There are a couple of big things happening that I think you'll want to know about. First, our school community is embarking on a yearlong, collaborative process to investigate and possibly restructure our instructional academy model. Currently, during the course registration process, 10th grade students select one of four academies; The Academy of Finance (AOF), the Public Service Academy (PSA), The Arts and Humanities Academy or the Construction-Related Engineering, Architectural and Technical Experience (CREATE). Our thoughtful process is being overseen by a team of staff and students and involves first examining our current reality. We will then look to the greater staff and student body to generate proposals for how to possibly change and/or improve our instructional model. Our goal is to have our plan in place for the student course registration process this time next year.

Secondly, we are gearing up for Phase 1 of our exterior window and door replacement project this summer. All exterior windows and doors will be replaced over the next two summers with new, energy efficient and architecturally accurate windows and doors. As the building has landmark status, the school district, architects and contractors are paying close attention to maintaining the regal aesthetic the Franklin building is known for. Half of the building will receive new windows during Phase 1 this summer. Next summer during Phase 2, the remaining windows and all exterior doors will be replaced. This will significantly improve our classroom environments, making them more comfortable for students and staff. And, as research has shown, a comfortable teaching and learning environment is essential to academic growth and achievement.

As a Franklin alum myself ('97) I am extremely proud to lead this community. The Quaker spirit runs strong in my veins and I am deeply committed to ensuring that the Franklin legacy in all its forms, continues to substantially impact not only south Seattle but the world. I want you all to know that our community is strong. The energy in the building is positive and we are healthy in our minds, bodies and Quaker spirit. Our students continue to set and raise the bar. We continue to believe in them. They demonstrate what we know; they are passionate, and they have great ideas. In truth, the best ideas come from the hearts and minds of our young people. When given the opportunity, they show us time and time again, in so many ways, how tomorrow must be better than today. That's how Franklin has always been. That's how Franklin always will be. Take care Quakers.

50s Picnic 2018: Another Great Success

BONNIE TINKER

The 19th Annual Franklin Picnic for classes 1950-1964 was held on September 20, 2018 at Gene Coulon Park. The weather was sunny and warm, and we lucked out without even a drop of rain.

This annual picnic is all about connection, and valuing time together. Everyone wanted to be with their classmates and neighborhood friends again, and to cherish old memories. Many stories of the great times growing up in the Franklin area were shared. Rainier Stadium, Seward Park loop(submarine races), Seafair, Dags, John Muir, Whitworth schools, Mt Baker beach, Memorial stadium games, on and on! Coach Lanman's daughter Bonnie Lanman Tinker of Sequim, brought her father's 1955 FHS letterman's sweater to the picnic. "I knew dad would be proud to give it to Buzz Crites, after all, Franklin High School IS family". Coach Lanman's memory continues to be forefront in the minds of his students. His notorious voice "I don't hear you" at pep assemblies had the entire gym rocking, and the lights swinging! His coaching record had the hallway trophy case full. He genuinely loved what he was doing, and loved the students at FHS. "He was an amazing person. To him, "every day was a sunny day, even if it was raining!" Bruce Biesold brought his famous homemade brownies that are loved by all, Larry Mayer prepared his delicious chili, and a wonderful lunch was enjoyed. A huge thank you to Kittie Eddy and the picnic committee for a fabulous and much appreciated picnic. Plans are now underway for our 20th Annual Picnic to be held on Thursday, September 12, 2019 again at Gene Coulon Park in Renton.

Good weather, good friends, good memories, make the picnic a wonderful time to continue our Franklin family picnic tradition. "Every day is a sunny day, even if it's raining." A great motto for our upcoming picnics.

Class of 1953 Celebrates 65 Years

CAROLYN THURLOW BURKE

The Franklin High School class of '53 met at Yankee Grill at the Renton Red Lion Hotel on Friday Sept 7 for our 65th Reunion. We ordered off of the menu and the food was excellent and well displayed. There were 29 in attendance and enjoyed being there. So good to see those from near and far that had come from a great distance. Everyone was able to tell what they had been occupied with since last together. It may be possible to meet again for the 66th next year, but not sure at this time. Impromptu pictures were taken by yours truly but forgot to get into any of them myself until later.

We enjoyed a good time together reminiscing about our high school days.

Class of 61 Celebrates 75 Years of Living

LINDA MOORE FREDERICKSON

Our birthday luncheon last September was a BIG success. A great time was had by all with over 75 classmates in attendance.

As the doors opened, the song Louie, Louie was played, welcoming the class of 1961 to Bahama Breeze. Most of the afternoon was spent visiting, listening to music, lots of hugs and catching up with news on each other's lives.

Our Master of Ceremony, Albert Cohen, shared and took us down memory lane as we revisited our wonderful year and the fun times we had at Franklin.

We had cake, sang Happy Birthday and ended with singing our FHS Fight Song together.

If a door prize was to be handed out, it would go to all of our classmates who came and supported this class event. Thank you everyone for coming.

Class of 68 Celebrates 50th in Style

RIC RIVERA

The Class of 68 joined to celebrate our 50th reunion Aug 24-25.

Festivities began on Friday evening with a heart attack risk-inducing (at least for those playing) basketball game at the Franklin gym, pitting Bulldogs against Quakers. Franklin won, 52-45 (or 55-51 depending on who you talk to). The crowd then gathered at classmate Marcia Ray King's to feast and reminisce.

On Saturday nearly 200 classmates celebrated at The Canal. Steve Condiotty emceed, and classmates Gary Locke, Tracy Dahlby, Charles Oliver, Jeanette Lucrisia Barnhill, Shirley Kieser and David Azose inspired everyone with memories and thoughts about our time at Franklin. Journalism teacher Barbara Nilson shared words with the crowd. She was introduced by Sam Amira who made sure she had transportation to the reunion.

Thanks to the entire planning committee - Lance Akutsu, Donna Amira, Sam Amira, Albert Angel, David Azose, Terry Bishop, Wayne Cofer, Dale Cohen, Doreen Cohen Alahdeff, Steve Condiotty, Tracy Dahlby, Teri Escobar, Yaela Ettlinger, Virginia Descargar Alfonzo, Phil Goodall, Janine Guttman Rosenbaum, Mark Hale, Debbie Kashino, Julia Laranang, Valerie Maekawa Jackson, Charles Oliver, Albert Ovadia, Nancy Raetzloff Groth, Marcia Ray King, Ric Rivera, Alan Schocken, Eileen Tracy Anderson, and Tim Tsubahara. For Friday a special note of gratitude to Charles Oliver for spearheading the basketball game, and to Marcia for hosting the after-game party.

The event was such a hit that we decided not to wait another 10 years. We'll meet for a joint happy 70th birthday party in August 2020, most likely a picnic at Seward Park or Gene Coulon Park in Renton.

Details will be posted on the class Facebook page: Franklin High School Quakers Class of 68 50th Reunion Seattle or the class website: <http://www.franklin68.com/>. Anyone who wants to help should contact David Azose at dazose@azose.com

Music at Franklin Through the Decades

This article is taken from the book Franklin High School: One Hundred Years, compiled by Sara Thompson at the time of Franklin's centennial in 2012.

Orchestra, band, choir – all have been an important part of the Franklin experience over the past century. Music was first accepted on a credit basis in 1913, and one man served as music teacher for all six Seattle high schools, the first chorus was organized that year. Victor, "Mac" McClelland, who taught at Franklin for more than fifteen years, conducted the first band concert in 1927 and by the 1930s there were more than a dozen musical organizations at Franklin including a symphonic choir. In 1940, Benny Goodman came to direct the band at a special assembly. The band, still under the leadership of Mac McClelland, had grown to 70 members and had gained a national reputation as the first band of that size to convert itself into a dance band.

By the 1960s and 1970s the band and choir dominated the music scene at Franklin. From 1968-70 Chuck Chinn, the music

She served as secretary and then president of the board, and during her tenure she established the FAA&F website and current database. She wrote a book, Franklin High School: 100 Years to mark Franklin's centennial in 2012. It is available at The Rainier Valley Historical Society and on Amazon.

TOM IKEDA '74

Tom is the Executive Director of Densho, a non-profit organization he helped start in 1996. Densho's mission is to inspire action for equity by keeping alive the personal stories of Japanese Americans forcibly removed from their homes and unjustly incarcerated during World War II. Tom has conducted over 250 video oral history interviews with Japanese Americans to examine the personal impact of racial discrimination during a time of fear.

Tom has also created online curriculum exploring racial discrimination and has spoken against the Muslim travel bans and the family detention centers on our southern border.

Prior to working at Densho, Tom was a General Manager at Microsoft Corporation in the Multimedia Publishing Group.

He has received numerous awards for his community and historical contributions, including the Humanities Washington Award for outstanding achievement in the public humanities, the National JAACL Japanese American of the Biennium Award, the Microsoft Alumni Integral Fellows Award, the Japanese American National Museum Founder's Award, and the Japanese Foreign Minister's Commendation.

RHONDA SMITH BANCHEMO '91

Rhonda was an all-state center as a senior at Franklin and held the record for most rebounds in a state tournament game. At the University of Washington she was selected to the All-Pac-10 first team three times and finished her four years as the all-time top scorer.

She played for the American Basketball League as a founding member of Seattle Reign and was the first player from Washington state to be drafted into the WNBA. She was elected to the Husky Hall of Fame in 2004 and into the Seattle Public Schools Athletic Hall of Fame in 2017.

teacher, gave five students, (Deems Tsutakawa – piano, Leonard Berman – guitar, Garrett Smith – bass, Wayne Rabb – drums, and Ben Hester and James Butler – sax) use of the band room for a credited class on a daily basis, as well as access to the facility in the evenings to rehearse and write music. They played at the school assemblies, dances, & parties doing funky/soulful originals and R & B. This group was the forerunner to the Jazz Lab, and in the early 1970s with funding to purchase better equipment and hire a true band director – James Gardner, the stage was set for national prominence. The Jazz Lab won a national completion in 1974, with one of Franklin's most famous alumni, Kenny G on the sax. James Rasmussen ('74), trumpeter, now leads the Jazz Police and also worked at Franklin as jazz director.

Dr Richard Koehler (at Franklin from 1967-74) directed the Bel Canto Choir and the group travelled extensively, including a trip to Europe. Members of the choir were so affected by that experience that decades later, in 2010, they reconnected and formed a new Bel Canto Performing Arts Society with regular performances.

In 1973 Pat Wright established a gospel choir at Franklin. This would ultimately serve as the origin of the Total Experience Gospel Choir

In the 1990s and 2000s the Jazz Lab and Franklin Band under Robert Pitzer (who taught at Franklin for eighteen years) continued to be successful and well-loved groups, with the band travelling to Ireland and Japan during that time. Band uniforms have had a history as well. In 1974 the band remembers their new uniforms – overalls! And when alumnus Bonnie Riach saw the Franklin band marching in sweats in 1998, she initiated one of the first fund-raising pushes – and new band uniforms were presented the following year. Those new uniforms led to the band's invitation to go to Ireland in 2000.

From that time on, the music scene at Franklin has grown, with a band, jazz band, orchestra, steel drums and choir all learning and performing with great joy.

Franklin's Hall of Fame: A Brief History

Franklin is the oldest high school in Seattle. Franklin opened its doors in 1912, and its history reflects that of Seattle. Learning about the contributions of Franklin graduates is bound to fill a Quaker with pride.

In 1992, as part of its 80th anniversary, Franklin staff and students established the Hall of Fame. They selected alumni and staff who had played inspirational roles at Franklin or who had made important contributions in their fields following graduation. In 1998 the Alumni Association was asked to take over the role of choosing new members and decided to limit selection to those who had graduated from Franklin.

This year, the 25th anniversary of the Franklin Alumni Association, will be the tenth year we have added members to the Hall of Fame.

The past members have contributed in all fields including arts, athletics, science and medicine, community activism, journalism, law, architecture, philanthropy, education, business and academics. You can read more about them on our website.

FAA&F welcomes nominations. Nominees must be Franklin graduates, with a date of graduation at least 15 years prior to nomination. They shall have gained prominence and recognition on a national, state, regional, or local level in his or her chosen field or endeavor. Those fields of endeavor shall include, but not be limited to, business and industry, education, medicine, law, science and research, religion, sports, politics and government, entertainment, international relations, volunteerism, community service or philanthropy.

2019 Alumni Golf Tournament

September 5 at Jefferson Park Golf course

Time to forget about the inclement weather we have had the past few months and "SAVE THE DATE" of September 5, 2019 and set your sights on a warm breezy day for our upcoming annual FHS Alumni & Friends Golf Tournament to be held again at Jefferson Park on Beacon Hill.

Come on out and see classmates from the past, have some fun & friendly competition, enjoy a great buffet and beverages, and have a chance to win some great prizes!

The tournament is open to all Franklin alumni and their guests. It will begin at 9:00 am sharp with a shotgun start. The format will remain as a four-person scramble and, if you are not able to gather a four-person team, we can easily assist to complete your team.

Registration forms and important information will be sent out via email or US mail in mid-June, which will give you ample time to assemble a team of old school friends, relatives and neighbors for a great outing!

The fee will remain at $125 which includes: Green fees, a muligan, power cart, competition prizes, and a BBQ lunch—including adult beverages. Net proceeds from the tournament are earmarked for the FHS Athletic Department.

Last year we had 28 foursomes – 112 players, including 14 women players (an all-time record number), and we aim to top those numbers in 2019.

Please help by passing the word and by "Saving the Date"! We also had 14 generous Hole Sponsors ($150 per hole) last year, 12 of them being fellow Quakers, and we again thank them for their ongoing support! We are always soliciting additional Hole Sponsors and Raffle Prizes—hit me back if you are able to participate in any manner.

If you are NOT on our mailing or email list, please send an email to bobchatalas@gmail.com and I will set you up.

Looking forward to seeing my fellow Quakers in September for a fun outing – and remember, GUESTS are very welcome!

Boys Basketball Alumni Night

On January 29, over 50 alumni gathered to socialize, have a blast with one another and support Franklin athletics. The Franklin Alumni Association & Foundation held our first ever "Alumni Night" at a Franklin varsity boys basketball game. Special alumni tickets came with perks.

- Game ticket
- VIP alumni entrance to game
- VIP alumni seating at game
- Franklin swag
- Complimentary entry to pre-game reception at BluWater Bistro
- Light appetizers at pre-game reception at BluWater Bistro
- One drink ticket at pre-game reception at BluWater Bistro
- One-way transportation from BluWater to Franklin
- VIP alumni parking at Franklin

The evening started with a pre-game reception at BluWa-

ter Bistro, courtesy of owner Zach Fleet '85. Classmates re-connected with each other over delicious food and beverages, reminiscing on old times and creating new memories. At the game, we were treated to a VIP entrance and greeted by cheerful Franklin students who gave us green and black pompoms and Franklin lanyards. Prime seats at center court were reserved exclusively for alumni and we were acknowledged several times throughout the game by the announcer.

Franklin played Rainier Beach that night and, while the Quakers didn't pull out the victory, a great time was had by all. Alumni from the 1950's through the 2000's came together to cheer on the varsity boys basketball team and reconnect with our alma mater. Special thanks to assistant principals Annie Patu (Franklin alum) and Jeff Lam for working with us to orchestrate this event. The night was a success and we look forward to doing it again next year!

A Quaker Gives Back

Franklin alum Maureen Wo-Eng Watanabe '97 recently celebrated her tenth year working for the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation. To commemorate her decade of service, the Gates Foundation donated $10,000 to the nonprofit of her choice.

Maureen chose the Franklin Alumni Association & Foundation! She designated this generous donation for scholarships for graduating seniors at Franklin to be distributed this spring.

A first-generation college graduate with parents who immigrated from Burma (now Myanmar), Maureen shared that her parents instilled in her the importance of education. "College is your ticket. She is paying it forward with scholarships for deserving Franklin seniors seeking to further their education.

We are grateful to the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation for their deep generosity, and to Maureen for selecting the Franklin Alumni Association & Foundation as the beneficiary of this wonderful gift!

Franklin Grad to Adapt Novel to Music

Paul Fujimoto '01, moved to New York as a "cocky 19-year old" to pursue a dream as a musician and actor. And now, nearly two decades later, he is a composer with a project that brings him back to his Seattle roots. He and Lainie Sakakura, a Broadway director, writer and choreographer, are working on a musical adaptation of Jamie Ford's novel Hotel on the Corner of Bitter and Sweet.

The novel, published a decade ago, tells the story of two young people, Chinese American Henry Lee and Japanese American Keiko Okabe, who live on opposite sides of Seattle's Chinatown/International District and befriend each other shortly before Keiko's family is interned at Minidoka. Fujimoto's mother read it and suggested it would be a great vehicle for a musical adaptation. He initially shrugged it off, but then he read it. "It's a tender story of young love told through this dark time," said Fujimoto. Henry has a friendship with a saxophonist. "Honestly, what I liked about it was that it was set in Seattle and half of it is set in the 1940s," Fujimoto said. "And I'm a jazz guy."

At Franklin Fujimoto focused on drama and music. He fondly remembers the F.A.M.E. performances directed by drama teacher Mary Smith, and he was a skilled trumpet player in the Franklin Jazz Lab under the direction of Robert Pitzer. When he graduated, he wasn't sure which of his passions he wanted to follow, and he spent a year at the University of Washington studying drama. After a year, though, he got restless and moved to New York to follow his dream.

Franklin, Fujimoto said, prepared him for the move. "Franklin was such a diverse place. New York was not a culture shock for me."

In New York he trained at BMI Musical Theater Workshop. It's a place where productions including Little Shop of Horrors and Avenue Q had their origins, and once there, he said, "A light bulb went off – I could combine my love of music and theater." He also decided that as a performer he was "not at a New York level," and he lost his desire to be onstage. But he loved watching a show develop from the backstage and he began to focus on composition. "Live performance is ephemeral. When you write a piece, it is captured on page and has a permanence."

Contract signed!

Fujimoto has worked on three shows prior to this project and his songs have been recorded by Tony winners Karen Ziemba and Gavin Creel, and Tony nominees Lauren Worsham and John Tartaglia.

He has had many jobs to help pay the rent, noting that getting paid for compositions happens once the work is completed.

The process of making a musical from a book is complex. First, he and Sakakura wrote a synopsis and several songs to present to Ford. As a result, they were granted a three-year option (exclusive rights to the adaptation) in the fall of 2016. Last year they presented a 29-hour AEA (Actor's Equity Association) reading – a live performance without staging and with rehearsal time limited to 29 hours in a rented space in Manhattan. Ford attended, along with a number of producers. Fujimoto said it was well-received and they were granted a three-year extension of their option.

A board member from 5th Avenue Music Theater heard about the project, met with them over coffee and forwarded her interest in the project to Artistic Director Bill Berry. He, too, was enthusiastic. "Hotel on the Corner of Bitter and Sweet is one of my favorite books. It's an important and beautiful story," he said.

Ford is a friend of one of the staff at 5th Avenue and had told them about the option for a musical adaptation. Producing a musical about a story that takes place in Seattle is an ideal opportunity for 5th Avenue, and when Berry got the board member's update about six months ago, he took it as a sign to reach out to Fujimoto and Sakakura. 5th Avenue is coordinating with them to schedule a Seattle reading. Exactly what happens after the reading is yet to be determined.

"It is in the early days and hard to know exactly what the collaboration will look like. It takes a long time to fully develop a musical and our main goal is to find ways to support the writers. My dream is to produce Corner of Bitter and Sweet, but if it turns out that the musical is produced somewhere else that is still a success," said Berry.

The Corner of Bitter and Sweet project has had some connections that make this project feel made-to-be Fujimoto said. "Jaimie is a musical fan to start with. I grew up in the neighborhood near where the story takes place. I worked at Budd's Jazz Records, featured in the book. My grandfather was held at Minidoka where Keiko's family is sent. And Jamie's father went to Franklin. And I like that 5th Avenue, a Seattle company, will develop the project."

Franklin Scholars Awarded

Fifteen Franklin seniors, most of them the first in their families to attend college, were awarded $24,000 in scholarships at the Senior Awards Assembly last June. Five programs were represented:

Franklin Scholarship. Initially established by the Class of 1935, this scholarship is awarded based on financial need, academic readiness and community service. The FAA&F Scholarship Committee reviews applications and makes recommendations.

Edwin M Lee Leadership Scholarship. This scholarship was established in 2018 by the family Ed Lee, '70, a civil rights advocate who served as Mayor of San Francisco until his untimely death in 2017. The Lee family reviews applications and selects recipients.

Swarts Science Scholarship. The Swarts Science Scholarship was established in 2017 by the family of longtime Franklin science teacher Richard Swarts. It can be renewed annually for the full four years of your college education. The Franklin Science Department reviews and selects recipients.

Roy Nakagawa Achieve to Succeed Scholarship. The family of Roy Nakagawa '35 established this scholarship in his memory in 2015. Roy was the captain of the football team. The FAA&F Scholarship Committee reviews and selects recipients.

Gilman Scholarship. Robert "Bud" Gilman '35 was a jazz pianist middle school counselor. His sister Bonnie Rattner '53 established the Gilman Scholarship fund in 2008. It is awarded to students who plan to major or minor in music.

Franklin Programs Funded

For over two decades the Franklin Alumni Association and Foundation (FAA&F) has supported programs to enhance the educational experience of Franklin students. This year was no exception.

Awards in 2019 will make it possible to begin a variety of new programs at Franklin and to continue some existing ones. The grants represent a wide range of needs and will support the staff and student body at Franklin in many ways. This year, all but one of the 13 grant requests made were able to be funded. The number of students who will benefit from these programs varies, ranging from 12 students for the student-managed coffee cart to up to 1,600 students for the 50/50 ticket funding. Half of the remaining programs will benefit 100-700 students.

Awards will support the following programs:

Student lunches for Saturday school, which will provide a meal for each of 700+ students who participate in Saturday school to receive extra academic support

- Stipend for an XBOT assistant coach, for Franklin's award-winning robotics program
- Travel for drama and band students and band fee for California competition
- Field trips to Olympia, Seattle Central Community College, and Wing Luke Museum
- 50/50 funding of tickets to cultural events, for teachers to take students to attend plays, museums, and lectures at a discount
- Funding for a Distinct/SM4 student-managed coffee cart for staff, which will provide support with workplace/job training skills for students with Severe Impacted Disabilities
- Funding for the IGNITE program, which supports the study of math and engineering for girls
- Purchasing of a set of world atlases to support Franklin's social studies department and students taking AP courses in World History, European History, or Human Geography
- Purchasing of a set of Monopoly games to support Franklin's Academy of Finance students (personal finance, economics, entrepreneurship and business in a global economy) to purchase, budget, and analyze financial transactions as well as practice overall banking

Franklin staff submitted requests in November to the school's Instructional Council. The Council reviewed the requests and made recommendations to the FAA&F board based on impact and need. grants totaling $15,000 were approved by the FAA&F at its January meeting.

Between 1996 and 2012 we raised and distributed approximately $300,000 in grants. In 2013 the board decided that the most effective way to support the educational experience at Franklin was to make a predictable allocation available to the Franklin staff each year. $13,500 is donated to the athletics program to assure that each team has adequate uniforms and equipment. $5,000 is donated to the Writers in the Schools program, which brings guest writers to schools. The remainder, $15,000 this year, is part of the grants program.
